

ABSTRACT

A Taylor pre-paid cash card, is a card spent as cash at any market that has a scan system to except it. A safeway to carry large amounts of cash in a card. The value of the card is worth what you pay for it, less a small user fee. As the card is spent, a receipt is given for amount spent, and a remaining balance. Use it up, throw away the card and buy another. A cash card used by the means of electronic transfer. A plastic card carried in your wallet. The card has a pin # and printed numbers with magnet stripes to identify card value. Assorted colors for priced cards with a bar code on the front. Cash Cards have company information and a secondary bar code on the back. A all public cash card, bought and sold to the public, by public markets.